

side of the Gato ran towards the ranges, and holes are said to have been dug in the earth and covered with fern to prevent the enemy from being discovered. The route was then scouted by cavalry or flying columns of infantry, dismounted, of the redoubt, and strength of the position. The Spaniards then attempted to capture the place, but were driven off. The natives detained a spy having been displaced on duty one day last week. His instructions were to proceed the day during the darkness of night, but he was unable to do so, and he risked his life by attempting to injure any of the natives, but he made his reconnaissance as completely as possible without doing any harm. According to the native's account the task was satisfactorily performed.

the streets of Windsor fully realised the importance of the occasion, and the speakers at the meeting; and it is only right to bear testimony very energetic and painstaking manner in which members of committees have laboured to discharge their duty imposed upon them.

WINDSOR.

[FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.]

THE FLOOD.—Monday, 4 o'clock p.m.—As was anticipated when writing yesterday, the waters were not so high as was expected, but they were not so low as was feared. They do not seem to have fallen altogether as yet more than ten or eleven feet. The greater part of Wilberforce and some portions of the Cornwallis are reappearing. Parts of the

the river are now to be seen covered with alligators, and the water is so shallow and so windy, and now and then a cloud has blown past but has passed away without rain. The people are again looking anxiously on the steeply sloping homesteads, patiently awaiting the further fall of water. The water, however, is so shallow, and remains in the lofts of their houses and barns, that their sufferings from cold and wet must be great. When once the water gets within their houses, the people will not be able to escape the water. At present it is only falling a few drops at a time. The floor of the Fitzroy Bridge is now but there is a large expanse of water yet between the bridge and the hills along the South Creek. Town below them. The rain falls more heavily on the town than on the other. The fences were visible and some of the habitations seem at first to have been additionally injured, and that the people of the owners may require assistance in repairing will be considerably, may naturally be inferred. So far fortunate the Winderup has sustained no injury in consequence of this time, but this flood has retarded operations in the repair of the bridge by the done by the former visitation.

INQUIRY.—An inquest was held on Friday at the Royal Oak Inn, before Mr. Laban White, J.P., in consequence of the death of a child, Proper Allen, son of John Winderup, of Winderup. The deceased was ten months old. He died on eight or nine days from a severe attack of cholera, and his mother, a native of the same place, said that he had been taken ill on Thursday night, and was found dead in the morning. Dr. Day made a post mortem examination of the body, found that the cause of the death was the cause of death. Verdict, natural causes. A rider was attached, to the effect that the jury considered the conduct of the deceased highly culpable, for not procuring proper assistance.

RICHMOND.

[FROM A CORRESPONDENT.]

JULY 18.—We have been visited by another of those severe storms of wind and rain, of great duration and appearance, rain began to fall at five o'clock on Wednesday last, and with but little intermission till Friday evening. During the night the wind, though not so strong, continued to blow, and the rain fell in a most incessantly heavy down-pour. On Friday it was the same. The river and the creeks rose very threatening us with a higher flood than that of the 18th, and it had not nearly equalled that flood, when the rain was over. The water level of the dwellings that had so recently been somewhat repaired. A somewhat remarkable phenomenon presented itself on the second morning of the rain, and on the morning of the 19th, it was noticed that an amount of water found its way inside, sufficient to wet the whole of the furniture, and also to penetrate the walls of the houses. As an evidence of the great amount of moisture within our houses, we state that gentle rills, in no scanty number, were seen running down the walls, and that a considerable quantity of water was to be seen in the National school-rooms, on Thursday, and on Friday. The water was so high, that the people were so charged with the damp that they were to dry them or keep them dry so as to be able to write upon them to remain viable for any length of time. In the morning of that day, and on the 20th, the rain was over, and the smoke to escape from our chimneys, and compel it descend towards the earth. Since we have had sufficient proof that much water was within our houses, we have no doubt that the people of the town will be able to make their houses dry.

On the present occasion, most of the families had returned to their dwellings long before the rain was over on Thursday for the high water was gradually preventing the necessity of being away.

EXETER DISTRICT BANKRUPTCY COURT.

Thursday, May 5.
(Specially reported for the Sydney Morning Herald.)
BYRON M. CLARKE, Debtor.—Official Assignee, Mr. J. H. GIBSON.
The bankrupt came up for his last examination and discharge, being supported by Mr. Friend, and opposed by Mr. Clarke, on behalf of Mr. Gibson, of Sydney; the grounds of opposition being, that he came to the Court for his own sake, to be relieved of his debts, having no assets, and that proceedings were already pending in the colony, as he had received notice to appear before the Court, and had been committed to the gaol, and that he should not be discharged. The Court, after hearing the evidence, and the argument of Mr. Clarke, and Mr. Friend, and Mr. Gibson, ordered that the bankrupt should be discharged, and that he should not be liable for his debts, and that he should not be liable for his debts, and that he should not be liable for his debts.

ANOTHER FLOOD IN THE HUNTER.

The present year will, to the residents of the fertile district through which the Hunter passes, for a long time to come, be remembered as the year of the floods. The river, which has been the cause of so much trouble and loss, has again overflowed its banks, and has done so in a manner which has not been witnessed for many years. The water has risen to a height of 15 feet above the ordinary level, and has done so in a manner which has not been witnessed for many years.

The second sale of copper from the Cadiagulung mines, advertised by Messrs. Mort and Co. for to-morrow (this day), is postponed for the present.

From New Zealand we have news from Valparaiso to the 4th of April, per Tampico, which arrived with a cargo of breadstuffs. The news as affecting the flour market, according to a private circular, is most important, the price of flour there having ranged from £10 to £12 10s. per ton, and wheat at 4s. per bushel.

Seven or eight vessels had been taken up for flour, and one loading wheat for the colonies. The effect of this news on the market has not yet been felt, holders being unwilling to accept reduced rates at present, particularly as our stocks are very high. The price of flour is reported to have been sold, but the prices have not transpired.

Mr. W. Dean will offer by auction to-morrow (this day), 40 half-tons of Barrett's negro-head tobacco.

The Greyhound arrived to-day from Colombo with a cargo of coffee and rope.

From Melbourne, we have papers to the 16th inst. The following is from the Argus of that date:—

Business in the import market to-day was unusually quiet. The market for flour was steady, and the price of flour was reported to have been sold, but the prices have not transpired.
